

Huber Capital Launches Mid Cap Value Fund

LOS ANGELES, CA, January 04, 2016 – Huber Capital Management, LLC announced today that as of December 31, 2015, it added a new mid cap value mutual fund to its line-up. The firm has managed the Huber Capital Small Cap Value Fund and Huber Capital Equity Income Fund since 2007 as well as the Diversified Large Cap Value Fund since 2012.

The latest offering, Huber Capital Mid Cap Value Fund (HUMDX, HUMEX), complements its existing small and large cap funds by focusing on the largest investments in the small cap fund and the smallest investments in our large cap funds.

“Our goal in launching the Mid Cap Value Fund is to provide investors with exposure to a specific segment of the U.S. equity markets largely ignored in this price momentum ETF and Index Fund environment. We believe this sub-segment of the U.S. market is best suited to take advantage once fundamental style investing makes a comeback,” said Joe Huber, CEO and CIO of Huber Capital Management.

Founded in 2007, Huber Capital Management employs a distinct research process which marries behavioral psychology with fundamental analysis. The investment research process utilized at Huber Capital is one that Joe has continuously refined throughout his career.

“At Huber Capital, we have a singular investment process that can be applied to various equity market cap segments,” Huber explained. “Our deep value investment process is rooted in fundamental bottom-up research that relies on heavy forensic accounting and seeks to exploit inefficiencies created by irrational investor behavior.”

Huber Funds are available via Schwab, Fidelity and TD Ameritrade as well through direct investments.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. Investments in foreign securities involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. The risks are greater for investments in emerging markets. Additionally, the Funds are subject to sector emphasis risk meaning that companies in the same or related businesses may comprise a significant portion of a Fund's portfolio and adversely affect the value of the portfolio to a greater extent than if such business comprised a lesser portion of a portfolio. Investments in Initial Public Offerings (IPO) carry additional risk such as market and liquidity risk and can fluctuate considerably. When the Fund's asset base is small, the impact of IPOs on the Fund's performance could be magnified.
